

Alan D. Reitzfeld, after practicing aviation law for 40 years, retired in 2018 as a senior partner in Holland & Knight LLP's New York Litigation Practice Group. Prior to his retirement, he played a leading role in defending airlines in multi-district litigation arising out of numerous major domestic and foreign commercial jet airline crashes and other incidents. Mr. Reitzfeld has spoken on aviation and technology law issues in many international and domestic programs and has published articles on those subjects in the U.S. and elsewhere (see https://drive.google.com/file/d/1ZmECkyHbi-iU7_Vg-2DDBC86K-xV40bX/view?usp=sharing).

Mr. Reitzfeld is a past Chair of the Aviation Law Committee of the International Bar Association, a past Vice Chair of the Technology and e-Commerce Law Committee of the International Bar Association, a past Chair of the New York City Bar Association's Aeronautics Committee, a past Chair of the Computer Law Committee of the New York State Bar Association, a past Delegate to the New York State Bar Association's House of Delegates, and a past Vice-Chair of the Aviation and Space Law Committee of the International Association of Defense Counsel. He is a 1973 graduate of Syracuse University and earned his law degree from Hofstra Law School in 1976, where he served as Research Editor of the Hofstra Law Review.
