

Fred Logue

Fred Logue is the managing partner of the FP Logue LLP, he specialises in environmental law, information law and technology law.

Unusually for an Irish lawyer Fred has a science background and worked as an engineer before becoming a solicitor. Fred has extensive experience and expertise in complex litigation including environmental and planning litigation.

Fred is also a leading information lawyer, advising on FOI, access to environmental information, data protection and privacy. Fred has acted in major information law cases before public authorities, administrative decision makers, Irish and European Courts, European institutions, and the United Nations.

Qualifications

- BSc, University College Dublin
- PhD, Trinity College Dublin
- Chartered Environmentalist
- Diploma in Arbitration Law, University College Dublin
- Solicitor, Law Society of Ireland
-

Memberships

- Institute of Environmental Management and Assessment
- Institute of Physics