

Dr Daniel Birchall has been Consultant Neuroradiologist at the Regional Neuroscience Centre in Newcastle, UK, for the last 25 years.

He trained at Cambridge University, and completed his training at Royal Perth Hospital, Australia. He has held senior management roles in his hospital, leading the Neuroradiology service and filling leadership roles within the hospital management. He was appointed as Professor to the Royal College of Radiologists before being elected to the role of President of the British Society of Neuroradiology, where he oversaw a programme of national and international education and engagement.

Dr Birchall has been elected to the position of incoming President of the World Federation of Neuroradiological Societies. He also has recently qualified as MBA from Newcastle University Business School. He has practised as both a Diagnostic and Interventional Neuroradiologist. He has an extensive medico-legal practice, working in the fields of Clinical Negligence and Personal Injury.