

Michał Krzanowski

Graduated from the Faculty of Law of the Cracow Academy in 2012. Passed the national attorney-at-law trainee exam in the same year. In the years 2013 – 2015 successfully completed the attorney-at-law apprenticeship in the District Chamber of Attorneys-at-law in Kraków. In 2016 passed the national attorney-at-law exam [bar exam].

Michał started his professional career in 2012, working at the law firm Budzowska Fiutowski and Partners. Attorneys-at-law in Kraków, Poland [BFP]. In 2020, he became the firm's youngest partner, and after the shortest time with the firm. Currently recognized for his work, along with the firm's other partners, in the Legal 500 EMEA ranking.

Michał from the very beginning was, and still remains, a member of the firm's personal injury team. He specializes mostly in medical malpractice and product liability cases, representing hundreds of clients across the country, as well as residents of other countries that seek compensation for injuries sustained whilst in Poland.

His particular interest concerns cases of medical negligence during childbirth, as well as medical device product liability (particularly MoM hip implants). He continues to be involved in several high profile cases that attracted media coverage, and appeared in the media to speak about, among others, MoM hip implants.

He also handles RTA and aviation accidents, most notably the case of the crash landing of the LOT airlines Boeing 767 aircraft at the Okęcie Airport in Warsaw, Poland, in cooperation with British and American law firms.

Michał also heads the firm's English Desk, which cooperates on a regular basis with various foreign law firms seeking advice on Polish law in cross-border personal injury cases. As the head of the Desk, he assists the team's lead partner in, among others, preparation of expert reports on Polish law for UK courts.
